IRENE KARAS LOEPER
Producer

If these three faces don't grab your attention, what will? We bring fun, creativity, and a deep passion to this special project—driven by years of friendship, shared experience, and a quirky sense of humour that's carried us through our careers in the entertainment industry. We're absolutely thrilled to present this series, one that holds deep personal meaning for each of us. As fabulous 50-year-olds who've spent decades hustling, creating, and shaking things up, it felt like the right moment to join forces—combining our talents and leadership to embrace our "Act 2." Because why give up, when you can take charge? Why not turn a painful life experience into something hopeful, healing, and maybe even hilarious? At the end of the day, if we don't hold on to hope, dreams, and a little bit of magic... what's it all for?

IRENE KARAS LOEPER is a passionate and multi-talented creative professional with over 25 years of experience both in front and behind the scenes. A professional actress and seasoned production crew member, Irene is excited to be expanding into producing and content creation, with a strong focus on leadership and storytelling that matters. She is the producer of "The Last Resort" and a proud applicant to the Emerging TV Producers Program. Through her company, ITQ Productions, she has created "The Heritage Project"—a series of personalized biography films designed for families to cherish for generations. Irene also hosts and produces her own podcast, #ilo_onlocation, currently in its fourth season, and has co-produced several short-form series, including Leo Award-nominated projects. Her work as an actress continues to thrive alongside her producing pursuits. Most recently, Irene earned a 2025 Leo Award nomination for Best Performance for "The Dressing Room" (Web Series), and received rave reviews for her lead performance this past April/May as Violet Newstead in "9 to 5: The Musical". With a vibrant career spanning multiple creative lanes, Irene brings heart, experience, and a fearless drive to every project she takes on. www.irenekarasloeper.com.

TANYA REID
Creator | Writer

TANYA REID is an amazing talent. Growing up, Tanya could often be seen sporting a bad home perm as she rode in the backseat of her mom's cigarette-smoke-filled/windows-rolled-up beater. Tanya's penchant for turning tales of adversity into comedy lead her to become an actor, writer and storyteller. She studied acting at Lyric and Gastown Actor's Studio in Vancouver, BC and went on to amass a list of film and TV credits which include recurring roles on Da Vinci's Inquest and Stargate SG1, as well as a lead role on the Gemini winning series, The Eleventh Hour. Tanya also earned a diploma in filmmaking from Lionsgate Film School and studied scriptwriting at the Vancouver Film School. She has written and directed plays including, They Went Another Way; an audience favourite at the Vancouver Fringe Festival. She also took part in a scriptwriting workshop series with Vancouver Island University's Creative Writing Department where she wrote another crowd-pleaser, The Breakdown. Since the age of 9, Tanya has spent almost every summer camping with her family on a remote island in BC.

BRENDAN BEISER
Co-Creator

BRENDAN BEISER Brendan Beiser, a no-time Olympic champion, was born in Boston, Massachusetts and raised in Vancouver, B.C. He now considers Toronto home. He has worked alongside Chace Crawford, David Duchovny, Gillian Anderson, Benicio Del Toro, Dwayne "The Rock" Johnson and Kiefer Sutherland to name but a few. Selected recent credits include: The Boys, Reacher and Star Trek:Discovery. He can currently be seen as the recurring Det. Watts on Pretty hard Cases and as series regular Norbert Hollister on Stephen King's upcoming The Institute. He also co-produces and hosts, "In Conversation With..." a live talk show with members of the entertainment industry.

The image shows three large, teardrop-shaped lanterns made of a translucent, textured material, possibly paper or fabric, hanging from a dark wooden ceiling. The lanterns are illuminated from within, casting a warm, orange-red glow. The central lantern is the largest and most prominent, flanked by two smaller ones. The background shows the wooden structure of the ceiling and some dark, indistinct shapes below.
